

Put critical workplace data in front of the right people with Forum Analytics Scheduled Distribution

Are you gathering the right data to understand how your workplace is supporting your corporate goals? Are the right people in your organization able to easily access that data? We know it takes time to pull the workplace analytics you need for operational and strategic success, so Forum Analytics now has the capability to schedule a dashboard to be distributed to a recipient or published for displayed on a public device such as a hall monitor.

The recipient will receive a link to a public view of the dashboard, so they do not have to be a Forum user to receive and view the page. Schedule end-of-the-week or -month dashboards to be sent to your Corporate Real Estate and Finance teams or make sure your catering and cleaning teams are updated with daily sends.

Utilizing the display-only view of building activities gives your employees a quick view of building activity to they can see when the busiest days are and what types of spaces are used most to help them make decisions about when and where they want to work in the office. It also gives your workforce strategic insight into how the space is performing and the value they are receiving from the AgilQuest Forum platform.

Watch these videos to learn more about this update:

How to E-mail a Dashboard

How to Publish a Dashboard Online

How to Manage E-mails in Analytics

